FEEDING EXPERTS TO COME HERE SATURDAY

Interesting Program Arranged For Visit of Cattle Specialists From Experiment Station

Plans for a big day here Saturday, March 19 with the beef cattle feeders are being made by the staff of the State Experiment Station, at Lexington.

A local committee has been appointed consisting of Jephth Jett, Tom Collins and Charles H. Jett, to have charge of arrangements. The program will consist of visits to a number of farms in Madison where beef cattle are being fed out both for fattening in the dry lot or to be finished on grass. It is planned to visit four or five of these in the morning and hold a meeting to which all interested are invited in the court house in the afternoon.

Several of the experts will make short talks on subjects of interest to the cattlemen.

Wayland Rhoades, extension specialist of beef production at the Experiment Station, will talk on "The Factors Which Influence Profits in Steer Feeding Last Year."

Prof. E. S. Good will talk on "Some Results on Experimental Steer Feeding at the Kentucky Experiment Station."

Morgan Hughes, of Bowling Green, will speak on the "Present Trend of Live Stock Conditions."

The meeting will be open to everyone, with no admission, and will undoubtedly be attended by a large number of Madison county farmers.

HAY CROPS COME TO FRONT IN KENTUCKY

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., March 16.—Hay crops to feed Kentucky's rapidly growing number of cattle and other livestock are rapidly coming to the front, says Geoffrey Morgan, secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation. There has been a tremendous increase in the alfalfa and red clover crops, he says, a large increase in sweet clover and soy beans. Ohio county, he said, alone produces more soy beans than the state did a few years ago.

The state has come to the front as a livestock producing state in recent years. Statistics show Kentucky recently made the largest per cent of increase in cattle in the union.

Poultry raising is another farm feature that is being developed.

Kentucky famous for its horses breeds fewer by three per cent than it did several years ago, Mr. Morgan said.

More Strawberry Associations

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, March 16.—Bowling Green has lost the name of being the only city with a Strawberry Growers' Association, according to Geoffrey Morgan, secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation. Due to the large increase in strawberry raising in recent years exchanges have been established and are now in existence in Paducah, Pembroke, and Russellville, in western Kentucky.

It is being found, he said, that Warren and Barren counties are not the only ones in the western part of the state that can produce berries of exceptional flavor.

Kentucky's Legion Best

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, March 16.—Recent events have led Kentucky members of the American Legion to believe their state organization the best in the south. Frank S. Whitman, national field representative of the Legion, before departing on an extended trip thru the south, spent several days in state headquarters here familiarizing himself with workings of the local office. Stephen S. Jones, state adjutant, was one of five state adjutants called to national headquarters in Indianapolis last week for a conference.

SUES GOVERNMENT FOR $5,000 DAMAGES

Jalier Burgess Files Petition In Federal Court Showing Damage to Farm by Back Water

The first suit to be filed against the United States of America in Federal Court here in a long time, has been lodged with Deputy Federal Clerk Miss Sara Monday by William H. Burgess, jailer of Madison county, and owner of a large farm which lies on the Kentucky river. Through his attorney, A. R. Burnam, Mr. Burgess asks $5,000 from the government for damage done to his farm by back water from the river, backing up Little Pole Cat Creek, which runs through his farm.

Mr. Burgess' farm consists of 284.33 acres, lying on the river above Lock No. 11. Little Pole Cat Creek cuts off 100 acres of the land from the tract. To reach the tract on the other side of the creek, Burgess built a bridge. For several years, he claims in his petition, back water from the river and creek overflowed his land causing small damage, but he did not complain of contemplate suit, until the steel shutter at the top of the lock was removed in 1919 and 1920 and a concrete dam, six feet high, was put on its place. Since then the water at times of heavy rains and freshets has been up in the creek from the river in such quantities that the bridge has been inundated and rendered useless, and the 100 acres cut off almost completely. Ingress and egress from this land is only possible at such times through the lands of others, over which he has no right of way. In addition to this, about 10 acres of the rest of the farm are so deeply covered by water that it is rendered wet, sloppy and unfit for use.

Mr. Burgess says that these ten acres are reasonably worth $150 an acre or $1,500, and he estimated the damage to the remainder of his land at $3,500, thus making the $5,000 damages asked from the government. Uncle Sam has, of course, as is well known, complete ownership and control of all rivers and harbors of the country and such a suit must be brought against the government and in federal courts.

Mr. Lewis Conlee has the sympathy of his many friends in the death of his brother, Robert Conlee, who died at the Good Samaritan hospital, Lexington, Tuesday from the result of an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Conlee was a resident of Clay City, was 36 years old, and was one of the most beloved citizens, being an exemplary young man in every respect. He was a member of the Christian church at Stanton, Ky., and a most untiring worker. Surviving him are his wife and two small children, his aged father, three brothers and two sisters. The remains were shipped to Stanton for interment early Wednesday morning.

ANNOUNCES FOR COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY

WM. J. BAXTER

Candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney—25th Judicial District

Wm. J. Baxter, County Attorney of Jessamine county, was in Richmond Tuesday night and authorized the Daily Register to announce his candidacy for the democratic nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney, subject to the action of the primary on August 6th.

Mr. Baxter has a number of relatives and warm friends here who have assured him of substantial and enthusiastic support it is understood. He is a young man, who comes splendidly recommended to the democracy and voters of this judicial district, which is composed of the counties of Madison, Jessamine, Clark and Powell counties. He makes his formal announcement in the following card to the voters:

To the Democratic Voters of the 25th Judicial District:

I beg to announce my candidacy for the democratic nomination for the honorable and responsible position of Commonwealth's Attorney for the 25th judicial district of Kentucky, composed of the counties of Madison, Clark, Powell and Jessamine.

Being a practicing attorney of Nicholasville, having been admitted to the bar in 1911, and have served the people of Jessamine county as county attorney, which office I now hold.

Being a native of Jessamine county and my ancestors have resided there for more than a century. In the county of my birth it is wholly unnecessary to state that I am a democrat, but for a better introduction to the people of the district, affirm that I am a democrat, came from democratic parentage and therefore since my earliest manhood have by breeding, from principle and by choice affiliated with the great democratic party, have adopted its tenets, and as such now come as an humble worker in the ranks, to ask your suffrage and support in the furthering of an ambition to serve as Commonwealth's Attorney. When elected to this important office I promise to discharge its duties to the best of my ability, without fear or favor. I shall never be the persecutor of my fellowman but shall make it my supreme effort to see that justice is done alike to all, that all laws are enforced alike to all the people regardless of class, political affiliation or personal relationship.

In seeking this nomination I am appreciative of the honor it would confer and of the responsibilities it would bring.

Trusting that I may have the pleasure of meeting in person every man and woman in the district, and it shall be my effort to do so. Soliciting the support of the citizenship of the 25th judicial district, and assuring all of my never-ceasing gratitude for any aid or support in the contest for this nomination.

With great respect, I beg to subscribe myself, your obedient servant.

W. J. BAXTER, Nicholasville, Ky.

From His Home Paper

The Jessamine Journal has the following concerning the candidacy of Mr. Baxter, which will be read with interest here, as indicating how he is regarded in his home town where every man is best known. The Journal says:

William J. Baxter, county attorney of Jessamine county, has announced his candidacy for Commonwealth's Attorney of the 25th district, composed of the counties of Jessamine, Madison, Clark and Powell, subject to the action of the democratic primary, August 6, 1921. Mr. Baxter was born in the Logana neighborhood, this county, and was reared and has lived all his life in Jessamine. He attended school and graduated from the Nicholasville public schools and holds a four year course, Bachelor of Arts, and year course, Bachelor of Law, at degrees at Kentucky State University. Upon graduating in law he took practice in Nicholasville, and later was elected county attorney to fill out the unexpired term of the late W. M. Watts, and later nominated and elected for a full term without opposition. He has made an energetic, careful, efficient official, and now seeks an advancement which his friends think he deserves. He has all his life been interested in farming and actively identified with everything in which the farmer is concerned. His democracy is "all wool and a yard wide." There have been but few campaigns since he attained his majority that he has not lent a helping hand, and his services have always been in demand at party conferences and during a speaking campaign. He is a forceful speaker, a vigorous prosecutor, and those who know him do not question his ability to do honor and justice to the important office of Commonwealth's Attorney.

Nicholasville, Ky., March 16.—Because of illness, the trial of Prof. T. B. Threlkeld, head of a boys' school here, charged with the murder of Arthur C. Denman last October, was continued until June 1st. The jury which heard the case in January disagreed.

TREMENDOUS GAIN IN FARM VALUES

Is Shown In This and Adjoining Counties In 10 Years—Interesting Census Figures

Preliminary announcement has been made from the Census Department at Washington of the agricultural census of Madison and a number of adjoining counties. The figures as just received here show a decrease in the number of farms in Madison county from 1910 to 1920. The figures for 1910 were 3,770 and for 1920 3,558. An increase in value of land and buildings of over $15,000,000 is shown in the ten years covered. The figures for Madison and adjoining counties will be of interest. They follow:

SUES ESTATE FOR PAVED STREET TAX

City Seeks to Collect $2,648.46 From Heirs of Mary Jane Walker—Other Suits

Among a number of new suits filed in the office of Circuit Clerk James W. Wagers is an action brought by the City of Richmond against the heirs of the late Mary Jane Walker, colored, for collection of the street improvement tax on her property on Lancaster avenue. The amount sued for is $2,648.46. The suit is brought by City Attorney J. P. Chenault, on behalf of the municipality, and is brought against the following heirs of Mary Jane Walker: J. M. Walker, Belle Walker, Jeff Davis Walker, Lillian Foos Myres, Jane W. Held and Annie W. Huffman. This property is said to be the only piece of property on Lancaster avenue that has not arranged for payment of the paved street tax, either through cash of deferred payment.

Suit has been filed by Attorney A. R. Burnam on behalf of Home Park and against Simpson Rogers for $225, alleged to be due as balance on the sale of a Ford car.

Attorney E. S. Wiggins has filed suit on behalf of the Tennessee Coffin and Casket Company, of Knoxville, against the S. E. Welch Department Store and R. H. Chrisman, of Berea, for $278.75, alleged to be due on account.

Through Attorney John Noiland, M. E. Burton and Son have filed suit against J. S. Gott for $360.50, alleged to be due on a promissory note.

Attorney W. B. Walden, of Berea, has brought suit on behalf of the Anderson-Dulin-Varnell Co., of Knoxville, against R. H. Chrisman for $30.9

ALLEN'S PRINCESS RANGES

Why women prefer them

The bread is not soggy; the muffins are not burned; the food is served hot, but is not dried out; there is plenty of hot water in the big copper tank; there is no stifling heat in a Princess kitchen; the cook is smiling and contented. That is why women prefer Allen's Princess Ranges.

Durable and Dependable

Quick, even heating is a feature of the Princess, and eliminates uncertainty in baking. And the many patented features for saving time, labor and fuel make it easily the leading range on the market.

Princess Ranges will last a lifetime, and will be absolutely dependable as long as they last. The body and top frame are made of one piece of rust-resisting iron, which means that there are no joints to widen out and bolts to become loose. Therefore its heating and boiling qualities remain quick and even as the years go by.

Prophets and Powder

Anyone who hasn't been strictly excluded from feminine companionship comes to the conclusion sooner or later that woman is the same the world over, and that she hasn't changed a great deal from the time of Eve to the passing of the eighteenth amendment.

Man hasn't changed much, either. He's still fool enough, as a rule, to think he knows something about the other sex, and he still struts around and tells himself that he is the boss.

John Knox, that staid and reverend Presbyterian of a bygone age, was such a man. His "Blasts of the Trumpet Against the Monstrous Regiment of Women" was directed at Mary, queen of Scots, and other beautiful women of the day. Mr. Knox was peeved because they were so doggone easy to look at, or at least that is about what a modern peruser of his "Blasts" will gather.

The same sort of ire arouses Overseer Voliva, of Zion, Ill., the successor of Dowie, the prophet. Women who go to the Zion tannery and powder their noses are sacrilegious, Voliva says. He has just issued a warning that he will lecture any powdered ladies in the congregation and that he will slap 'em, too.

Now, Mr. Voliva, be reasonable. We say it for your own protection. You may get away with the lecture, but, Mr. Voliva, a clapped woman, powder or no powder, is something to look out for.

Appreciation of the Local Paper

Too few people think of the right way of expressing their obligations to a newspaper. For example, when the newspapers of Trenton took over a little job shop, the record showed that it had for many years done all sorts of job work for churches and other organizations and for many of the professional men. Now, for 50 years Col. Rogers has been printing free all sorts of church notices, missionary meeting and aid societies, reports of literary societies, clubs and notices that Dr. — had been called to see this and that sick person, and that a certain great legal case was handled by the "well-known and able lawyer, Mr. —," and yet, when many of the churches and clubs and organizations had a cash job to give out they forget the newspapers. The newspapers of the west are always to be found promoting all good causes, and we are inclined to think that in a case of not "thinking" when people who should feel under an obligation to a newspaper fail to take pay work there.—Trenton (Mo.) HAVE CLUB FOR ARTISTS' MODELS

"Magazine Cover Girls" Ask to Be Taken Seriously.

MATRON DELIVERS LECTURE

Hands a Few Remarks to Broadway Don Juan Who Has Followed One of the Girls—Posing Is Hard Work and Models Are Not Given Much More Consideration Than Formerly—Not All Models in Greatest Demand Are Beautiful, But All Are Distinctive.

To have the artist's model taken seriously is the purpose of an interesting club which has its headquarters in an old-fashioned house on West Fifty-eighth street, New York. Pass this house at any hour during the day, and, if you are lucky, you are apt to see its ancient door creek open and the original of your favorite magazine-cover girl trip sedately down the steps. For the house is usually full of them. It has about 150 such enchanting damsels on its membership list.

But they are to be taken seriously. Don't forget that.

The other day, a Broadway Don Juan, bewitched at the sight of his favorite bathing girl picture actually walking down Seventh avenue—not in a bathing suit, you understand, but recognizable, nevertheless—proceeded to accompany her at a discreet distance as she turned down Fifty-eighth street. When she left the pavement and ran up a pair of steps, he stopped in his tracks and stared in deep preoccupation at the door where she had vanished.

Suddenly the door opened a second time, and a gray-haired, sweet-faced matron came out.

Matron Delivers Lecture.

"Young man, what do you mean by following one of our girls?" demanded the lady, quietly but firmly. "Now, suppose you just run along back to Broadway, where you belong. The girls in this club are nice, quiet, refined girls, and they don't want to be annoyed, and, furthermore, we are not going to have a lot of idle, gaping men standing out here in front of our house."

Thus did the secretary of the club, as she later explained to the reporter, nip in the bud a movement on the part of the male population of New York to give the club its enthusiastic endorsement.

"The attitude of the public, especially the masculine public, toward the artist's model," said the secretary sadly, "is much the same as it is toward the chorus girl—entirely frivolous. It is also incurably romantic. People seem to have an idea that an artist's model is a gay young thing, who earns an easy, if not luxurious, living by posing for fascinating artists with long hair or oriental fezes, if they have bald heads. Now, as a matter of fact, posing is hard work, and until recently the average artist's model has been poorly paid and has been given about as much consideration as a table or chair."

Getting Jobs for Models.

Here the telephone on the secretary's desk burst noisily into her confidence and she grabbed a notebook and pencil.

"Excuse me just a minute," she said, taking up the instrument. "Yes, I think we have just the girl you need—Miss B—. You know her? Too thin? I don't believe we have anybody plumper. We consider her one of the plumpest girls we have. About 150 pounds, I should say, but tall and well proportioned. Yes, I think you might be able to use her face, too. She's a good Spanish type. Well, she lives right up in your neighborhood—suppose I have her come in and see you, anyway. If she doesn't suit, perhaps we can get you some one else. Miss M—, whom you had before, will be back from Havana Friday."

The secretary then explained that the club runs an employment bureau for its members, who are all registered and classified by types. Posing is somewhat like private nursing; a girl never knows how long her job is going to last or how much money it is going to pay her. Some artists take a long time to complete their work, and others work very fast. Some can afford to pay a high rate for a model, and others can scarcely afford to employ one at all. But conditions in this respect are better for posers than they have ever been before, thanks to the persistent mercenary efforts of the club.

A good model can now demand and collect a dollar an hour for her work, at which rate some of them make as much as $8 a day.

Besides its employment bureau, the Art Workers' club, as it is called, operates a restaurant on the first floor of the house, which serves excellent meals at cost, while five o'clock tea is served every afternoon absolutely free. To this artists, as well as models, are invited since, as the secretary explained, the chief effort of the club is to bring the two factions together for the promotion of a better understanding.

Dansant Monday Afternoon

Mrs. Field, the dancing school teacher of Cincinnati, closed her series of lessons Monday afternoon with a Tea Dansant to which the patrons and a number of guests were invited to come. The Masonic Temple was decorated very beautifully for the occasion green being most profusely used in honor of St. Patrick's Day. The boys also wore caps of the same color. Misses Isabel Bennett and Florence Burnam presided at the favor table and Mrs. E. T. Burnam and Miss Willie Kennedy were chaperones. Among the dancers were Misses Ann Field, Mary Keen Shackelford, Esther Bennett, Ida and Margaret Greenleaf, Josephine Dunn, Florence Hamilton, Mary Pickett Breck, Sara and Elizabeth Collins Hannah and Gladys Dean, Louise Rutledge, Billy Moss and Mary Shearer, Bettie Chenault, Mary Shackelford, Jessie and Lillian Burnam, Francis Mays, Leon Fife, Myr McNeale, Myrtice Todd, Nancy Woods Chenault, Betsy Bennett, Diana Woods, Sara Cosby, and Masters Joseph Bosley, Richard Wagers Lewis Neale, Dan Breck, Jr., Harry and Harvey Planton, Charles Jett, R. J. McKee, Jr., Robert Dunn, Chester Luxon, Douglas Parrish, Thomas Wagers, Theodore Keith, Dale Moberly, H. B. Forbes, Jr., and Stephen Noiland.

IN THE MOVIES

John Rattray was desperate and almost reckless in his outlook upon life, but he was horrified at the wholesale murder at sea committed in furtherance of a scheme in which he had become involved. He was fiercely opposed to the additional murder of George Stevenson Cole, which Santos, Captain Harris and Jose were eager to accomplish. Even Rattray got heated as he was in a way, was inclined to let the plotters kill Cole when he learned the carrier was his rival for the hand of Eva Dennison.

There are many tense situations and spectacular scenes in "Dead Men Tell No Tales" a Tom Terriss all star special production which will be shown at the Opera House tonight. It is the visualization of the tremendously popular novel of the same name by E. W. Hornung, author of "Raffles."

Jack Gilbert, who plays the young hero in "The White Circle" Maurice Tourneur's new picture, coming to the local theatres on Thursday, numbers himself among the actors of the stage and screen who began their dramatic careers in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." At the age of three weeks, Mr. Gilbert was carried across the ice just three jumps ahead of the bloodhounds by his mother, an actress. A year later young Jack co-starred with Bryan, Eddie Foy's oldest. Their act consisted of crawling before the footlights, making faces at the audience, then exeunt. In 1915, Mr. Gilbert started his career in pictures under Thomas H. Ince and played juvenile leads with Enid Bennett, Bessie Barriscale, Marguerite Clark, and others.

"The White Circle" is an exciting story of love and adventure on the lonely Scottish coast and was adapted from "The Pavilion on the Links," by Robert Louis Stevenson.

Tom Moore has actually grown "sideburns" to lend verisimilitude to his role of "Mr. Barnes" in "Mr. Barnes of New York," by Archibald Chayring.

May Murray will use Prizma color in her latest starring vehicle, "The Gilded Lady." This picture lends it's self particularly to color photography.

Florence Lawrence after many years absence from the screen, will soon return in the "Unfoldment." Larry Semon's father was known as the "The Great Zere" a magician in vaudeville.

Weber Wagon Value

At half price would you purchase any automobile in 60-inch track?

At half price could you sell to a farmer any automobile in 60-inch track?

Why mislead a farmer into buying a farm wagon that won't track with the automobile?

What better path could a wagon use than the one made as shown above?

When you purchase a Weber Farm Wagon you get more than just a farm wagon. That fact alone is worth looking into.

Some wagons are sold more for the purpose of making a sale and as large a profit as possible than for giving service.

Some dealers are antagonistic to the Standard Track (the one track for every section of the United States) for farm wagons; the 56-inch auto track (not wide or narrow) because they have not got the agency for the Weber.

Some dealers will talk a farmer into buying a 60-inch old-track farm wagon, but when such a dealer goes into the country on business or pleasure does he use a 60-inch track farm wagon, leaving his automobile at home because the 56-inch track is wrong? NO, he uses 56-inch track to go anywhere and everywhere.

Ask the dealers selling automobiles if they have any trouble selling 56-inch track—if they could sell automobiles in 60-inch track even at half price. The answer will be NO.

What track should your new farm wagon be? The Standard 56-inch track, which is neither wide nor narrow.

In the Galaxy of Blouses

THERE is a considerable diversity of style in blouses this spring but an actual count in almost any display will reveal the tie-back models and the straight-line models predominating. In materials georgette and crepe-de-chine are in the lead, but there are hosts of lingerie blouses to dispute position with them. The latter have a place in the summer wardrobe not to be disturbed by any newcomers. There are some new and very attractive trimming features to be noted in the spring style points—two or three of them embodied in the two stars in the galaxy of blouses for spring that are pictured here.

A crepe de chine model appears at the right of the two with the favored medium for embellishing this fabric shown in the eyelet embroidery that comes so near to covering it. There is a rising tide of favor for this sort of embroidery on both blouses and dresses. Two other novelties in decoration find themselves well placed in this model—the unusual small rings about the waist line, for supporting the narrow ribbon girdle and the tassels that finish the bottom. Many blouses indulge in a few handsome tassels, but this one makes prodigal use of them; they are placed so close to gether that they have the effect of lengthening the plenum.

The dainty blouse at the left makes use of two colors in georgette, a dark shade for the body and a light color for a border at neck, sleeves and plenum. Needlework and flower motifs in silk floss repeat the colors in the blouse. The narrow ribbon girdle slips through four tabs, two at the front and two at the back, which are merely extensions of the border decorated with embroidered flowers. The girdle ties in a little bow at the side.

An interesting and pretty decoration in late arrivals among blouses appears in patent leather, which is cut out to represent grapes, acorns, cherries, etc. They are set in foliage embroidered with silk floss matching the blouse in color. Girdles are not always simple—decorations of this kind are often placed on them, or narrow, plaited frills or embroideries.

*The figures for domestic animals in 1910 are not very closely comparable with those for 1920, since the present census was taken in January, before the breeding season had begun, while the 1910 census was taken in April, or about the middle of the breeding season, and included many spring calves, colts, etc.

"Thine Is the Glory"

This painting, which hangs in National Headquarters of the American Red Cross, Washington, depicts the homage of America's fighting men to American womanhood as mobilized for service in the World War by this organization. It is the collaborative scientific and art creation of Major Joseph Gray Kitchell, late of the General Staff, U. S. A., and P. Luis Mora of the New York School of Art. The face of the central figure is a composite of the features of a thousand Red Cross workers selected for the purpose.

SUNDAY SCORES DANCE AND CARD AMUSEMENT

Also Backsliders Before Another
Great Congregation in Cincinnati Revival

Cincinnati, March 16—Faced by the greatest week-day throng of the revival campaign—it was comparable only to the record-breaking gathering of last Sunday night—Billy Sunday, in his sermon last night, denounced the backsliders in religion and urged all to adhere to the teachings of Christ from beginning to end.

Before Mr. Sunday sat a delegation of 3,000 working girls from the offices and industrial plants of Cincinnati, and it was to this delegation that the evangelist directed many of his remarks.

As on Sunday night, the building was packed to its capacity of more than 7,000 persons, an hour before the service was to open. Thousands were turned away, unable to obtain admittance.

Mr. Sunday, speaking directly to the working girls, cited their ability to do things in business as proof of his conclusion that the women can do more than to "dollar up camouflage and bang up."

With a string of jokes that brought great waves of laughter from every part of the tabernacle Mr. Sunday led up to his subject declaring on the way that "religion is not for time, not for money, not for politics, but is for God, for life and death, for better or worse to be carefully considered before you can take a step and set your face like a flint and never deviate from the path that God lays down for you to walk in."

Mr. Sunday took a firm stand against splitting up the Sabbath in an emphatic declaration against Sunday opening of stores. "I would never buy a dollar's worth of goods," he declared, from the man who keeps his store open on Sunday.

"It's one thing to be a member of the church and another thing to be a member of the body of Jesus Christ," he asserted. "The two terms ought to be synonymous, but they are not."

Dancing and card playing were put under the ban in no uncertain terms.

"Dancing and card playing are more bitter enemies of the church than the saloon ever was," Mr. Sunday declared at one point. "but don't get into your nut from that, that I ever was in favor of the saloon."

Mr. Sunday jumped with both feet on the backslider, citing several instances that had come to his attention. In startling contrast to these recitals, he related a pathetic story of Robert E. Lee, who, he said, turned down a magnificent offer to head a lottery with his name, an offer he refused because it would compromise him in the eyes of mankind.

"My father was a Union soldier but I take off my hat to Robert E. Lee," Sunday declared with much feeling.

Mr. Sunday again rapped the double standard of morals, and declared he is for the single standard. He condemned the action of men in holding women to one standard of life, for many a man does things he would not permit his sister, his mother or his wife to do.

Few persons missed one feature of his sermon which showed the splendid physical development of the evangelist. Illustrating a point he desired to make Mr. Sunday held his body straight fell flat on the floor, broke the force of his fall with the palms of his hands, and almost immediately arose to a standing position, to resume his sermon.

He told a long story of his efforts to redeem an man from the gutter, of the man's fight against sin, his fall, his redemption, his fall again—all with touches of humor, of pathos, of drama, that played at will on the emotions of the audience.

"The great social problem of today is—how can we capture the old world for Jesus Christ," Mr. Sunday declared at the end of his sermon. "It's when we make up our minds and our wills not to sell out to the devil."

Then exclaiming "My, but I'm tired!" he reached under his pulpit and brought forth a blue bottle, from which he took a drink and swathed his face with water, while the audience laughed. And then he waved another cheerful "Good night." His eighteenth sermon in Cincinnati was at an end.

Delegations of employees from a number of business houses and a bank were recognized in the delegation of working girls present. Each wore a distinctive badge.

One Slight Change is Made in Football Rules

Changes of the rule governing a safety and a suggestion bearing on the status of officials who take part in professional games were made at the annual meeting of the Football Rules Committee, which has just closed at New York.

Following a safety, the rule was changed to read that the ball shall be put in play on the 30-yard line instead of the 20-yard line. The alteration was made because of the difficulty of spectators differentiating between the safety and a touchdown.

The committee suggested to the central board of officials, which has charge of selecting officials of games, that after the season of 1921 no college football official who shall officiate in a professional game shall be eligible for any further college football contests.

Ship From Which Boy Rescued 45

The wrecked British steamer Ansgar, which went ashore in Mount's bay, Penzance, England, during a gale, and from which a mere boy rescued the crew of 45. The vessel was much farther from shore at the time, and the sea was too heavy for boats. An apprentice named Davis, from Birmingham, volunteered to swim ashore. With a light line about him, and with a life jacket and life-buoy, the lad nearly reached the shore, when he became exhausted and would have been dashed to pieces had not three fishermen rescued him. A hawser was finally drawn from the ship, and 20 of the crew came ashore on this. Later a rocket was shot to the ship and a breeches buoy, rigged up which saved the remainder of the crew.

MUCH MYSTERY IN INDIANA MURDER

Marion, Ind., March 16.—Virgil Decker, held here in connection with the Warsaw death mystery, today named another man in the plot, according to Sheriff Fowler. The man's identity was not disclosed. Authorities are working on the case at Marion, Warsaw, Atwood, Elkhart and Bourdon. Up to the time Decker was arrested his relatives here asserted he was the man murdered, despite the positive identification of the body as that of Leroy Lovett by Lovett's parents. The statement made in connection with the case indicates Virgil Decker held insurance policies on his life aggregating $24,000. Decker and the dead man bore a striking likeness of each other.

BOTH SIDES CLOSE IN HAMON TRIAL

(By Associated Press.) Ardmore, Okla., March 16.—The state and defense announced today they had completed the case in the trial of Clara Smith Hamon, charged with the murder of Jake L. Hamon. Court then recessed until the middle of the afternoon to permit the judge to prepare his instruction to the jury. Instructions will cover the murder, carrying death or life imprisonment penalty; first degree manslaughter with four years to life imprisonment; second degree manslaughter with a minimum fine of $1. Each side was allotted five hours for the argument which will begin when the court completes its instructions.

MUST PAY BILLION MARKS BEFORE 23D

Paris, March 16.—The allied reparations commission in a note to Germany demanding fulfillment of the peace treaty notified the German government it must pay a billion gold marks before March 23, it was announced today. The money must be deposited in the Bank of France, Bank of England or the United States Federal Reserve Bank, Germany was told. The commission gave Germany until April 1 to submit a proposal to pay the balance of 20 billion marks otherwise than in cash.

CIGARETTE OUTPUT GAINS IN JANUARY

Cigarette production, into which a large percentage of the Kentucky burley crop goes, recovered substantially in January after the slump in December, according to official figures. Production was 38 per cent greater than in December, but was 13 per cent smaller than in January, 1920. Output totaled 3,904,515,440, compared with 2,821,277,963 in December and 4,531,177,739 in January, 1920. In January cigar production decreased 30 per cent compared with January last year and 8 per cent compared with December; manufactured tobacco output was 25 per cent smaller than in January last year, and 60 per cent greater than in December.

THIS CITY BUILT WHILE YOU WAIT

Fourth Largest Town in Alabama Full Grown in One Year.

HAD A MODEL GOVERNMENT
Permanent Settlement Around U. S. Nitrate Plant Presented Unusual Problems.

By GARRET SMITH.
The fourth largest city in Alabama, populated with 25,000 souls of diverse races and religions, uprooted from its scattered communities in every part of the United States and Canada, sprang into being almost overnight around the great new government ammonia nitrate plant down on the open cotton and corn fields at Muscle Shoals on the Tennessee River during the last year of the World War. Here was a problem in city building, namely local government and community welfare that has seldom been equalled and the success of its solution has never been excelled.

The job was in the hands of the Ammonia Corporation which had been organized under the direction of the Ordnance Department to build plant and city at Muscle Shoals. Early in January, 1918, this new town and a few temporary buildings and a population of 300. This had jumped by the middle of August to more than 21,000. A population multiplied by 70 in months.

In the management of the new towns and army cantonments the sprang up during the war the old time evils that attended the growth of mushroom cities have been avoided by the application of modern welfare systems. But nowhere were conditions more difficult than at Muscle Shoals. Here was a malarial region threatened at the same time with other deadly disease epidemics. Transportation was lacking. No nearby labor was available and the general labor shortage was at its most acute stage. Costs of labor and supplies were leaping over night. Furthermore Muscle Shoals differed from all the other new war towns inasmuch as it was to be permanent.

New Government Devised.
The managers, besides city government, had to handle the entire retail business of the town. A camp supervisor's department was put in charge of the maintenance of all buildings, fire protection and sanitation. The camp supervisor looked after everything from the mending of a lock to the remodeling of groups of buildings or laying sewers or steam mains. For the bachelor contingent a commissary department was necessary.

The business department managed the stores, canteens, motion picture theaters, pool parlors, tailor shops, dry cleaning establishments, barber shops, newsstands, a hotel, a vegetable farm and a hog farm where 1,000 hogs were raised on the wastes from eating places. It maintained a slaughterhouse where these hogs were put through the regular packing house course. It operated a laundry which cleaned 7,493 pieces a day. Then there was a real estate department that rented and managed the family quarters and a housing department which assigned to quarters everybody excepting the families.

Under separate jurisdiction from its community director were the police. The health department, in charge of a physician from New York City, started with a small office in one of the temporary buildings, and was soon full grown and splendidly equipped. Conditions were favorable to disease. The winter was the severest on record in northern Alabama. The men were compelled to work either in deep snow or mud above their knees. As a result a pneumonia epidemic developed among the Negroes that spring. Later in the year a typhoid epidemic was also reported.

4 MILES OF CONCRETE ROAD ON THE DIXIE

The State Highway Commission at Frankfort Tuesday decided that it will not accept any advancements from counties for construction of primary system projects to be paid back when the projects are completed. This decision was made after Attorney General Dawson had explained an opinion of the court of appeals holding that such advancements create state debts within the meaning of the constitution.

The commission let the contract for 11 miles of the Jackson Highway in Barren county from Glasgow north, to be constructed of Kentucky rock asphalt, to the R. B. Tyler Company, Louisville, for $469,000. Contract for four miles of concrete between Williams-town and Dry Ridge, Grant county, on the Dixie Highway, was let to Connell & Brecht, Williams-town, for $174,000.

typhoid epidemic was threatened. Moreover, the site of the plant was in the heart of the malarial district. But the pneumonia epidemic was checked the typhoid threat slipped in the bud and malaria stood out.

A Health Record Established
The little first-aid hospital present grew to a complete modern institution with a nurses' home and a separate dispensary for dental, eye, ear, nose, throat, genito-urinary clinics and a surgical dispensary for first-aid work.

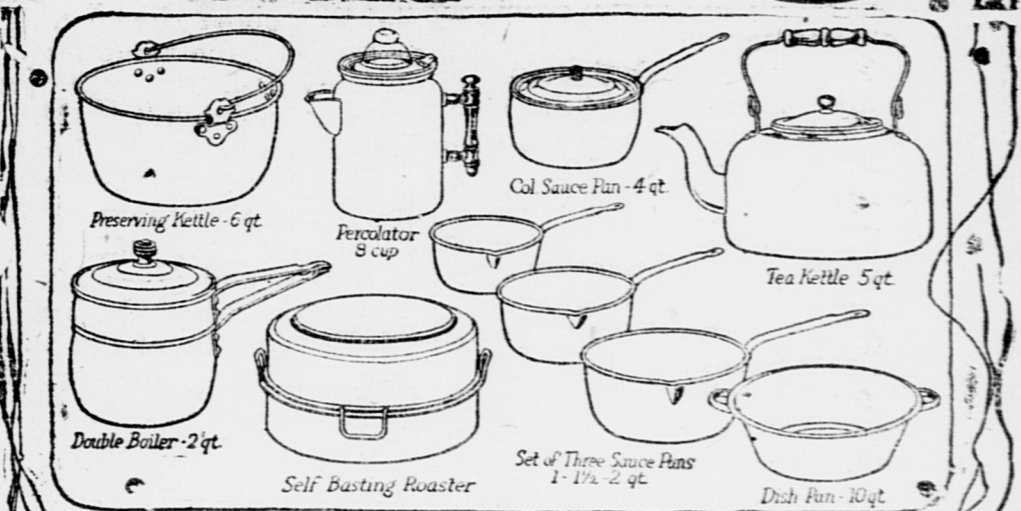

During the eight months when the death rate was not affected by the influenza and pneumonia epidemics the general health rate was 12.4 per thousand per year, which is lower than in most cities in the same latitude and climate, and the pneumonia death rate during the epidemic was lower than in most army cantonments.

Much of the success of the health administration is due to the establishment of the Muscle Shoals sanitary district by the United States Public Health Service.

The education and welfare department also had a vital work to perform. There was a school population of over 1,000. The Secretary of War created the community organization branch of the Ordnance Department which, with advice and aid of some of the greatest school men of the country prescribed the courses of study and recruited teachers from the best established systems.

CITY FOREMAN THOUGHT HE WOULD SMOTHER

Restored to Perfect Health by Tanlac a Year Ago, Joel Ward Still Enjoys Splendid Health—Gains Twenty Pounds

"I got rid of my awful stomach trouble and gained twenty pounds a year ago taking Tanlac and I certainly have felt fine ever since," said Joel Ward, 1655 13th Ave., Huntington, W. Va., foreman of the City Incinerator.

"Everything I ate made me miserable afterwards. Sometimes my stomach would burn like fire and I would have smothering spells. Sometimes when I was at work a dizzy spell would come on and I would get so faint and nauseated I would have to knock off work. I was so nervous and miserable and got so thin and rundown I began to think my days of usefulness were about over. To make matters worse, the rheumatism settled in my ankle so bad I just had to hobble around.

"Tanlac went after my troubles and in a short time I didn't look or feel like the same man. I soon had my lost strength back and some extra pounds besides. I now get as hungry as a bear three times a day, eat anything I want and digest it without any trouble. Tanlac certainly puts new life into a man and gives him a wonderful amount of vim and energy. I don't think there can be a doubt about its being the best medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold in Richmond by Stockton & Son; at Berea by the Welch Department Store and at College Hill by Ginter Bros.

SCHOOL CHILDREN NEED NEW BOOKS

City Superintendent John H. Payne gave the Daily Register the following Wednesday:

Nearly all of the school children at Caldwell lost their books in the fire. Many children lost all their books and many lost practically all of them. The teachers are thinking that many of these books may be in the homes of Richmond where they are practically useless. We are giving below a list of the books that are needed at this time with the hope that many people will find a copy of one or more of the texts and that they will be glad to contribute it toward relieving the situation in the city schools. If any one finds a copy of any of these books and would like to have it used by the school children please leave it at the basement of the First Baptist church between the hours of 8 and 12:30, where Miss Bessie Dudley will be glad to receive it.

WOMEN ADOPT 10,000 ORPHANS

Connecticut to Provide Foster Mothers for Little Victims of Turks.

Ten thousand little victims of Turkish brutality are to be foster-mothered by the big hearted women of Connecticut as the result of appeals by Near East Relief, the former Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief of 1 Madison avenue, New York city. The women at a meeting voted to "adopt" that number as their share of the 250,000 homeless and starving boys and girls orphaned in the massacres and deportations.

Three hundred representatives of women's organizations attended the meeting at Hartford, at which Governor Marcus H. Holcomb presided and pleaded the cause of the stricken peoples. Another speaker was Henry Morgenthau, former U. S. Ambassador to Turkey.

Assurances that the example of these noble hearted Connecticut women will be followed by similar organizations in all the other states have been received at the headquarters of the Near East Relief, 1 Madison avenue, New York city.

Bills will come up before Congress to divide the States of New York, Illinois, California and Texas.

Health the Keynote to Beauty

Beauty means so much to women—power, social triumph, admiration and love. Beauty implies good health. Who ever saw a woman racked with pain, struggling with weakness or disease, who could be called beautiful? The woman of today in this high-strung, nervous age is continually overdoing, with the result that ill-health, unchecked, will ruin all chances for her happiness. The natural restorative for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been recognized as a standard remedy for women's ills, and has done much to relieve pain and restore good health to women.

You and Robinson Crusoe

One of the most persistent advertisers in the history of success was Robinson Crusoe.

He knew what he wanted—a ship—and he put up an advertisement for one.

He hung a shirt on a pole at the top of his island; that, in the language of the sea, was plain to every seafaring man.

The circulation was small, there was no other medium, but Crusoe kept at it, despite the fact that he got no inquiries for a long time.

In the end he got what he wanted, was happy, and his name and fame have come down through the ages!

Suppose Robinson Crusoe had taken down his signal after a year and declared: "Advertising doesn't pay?" Where would his story be now?

Or suppose something had whispered in his ear: "No use, Robinson—these are pretty hard times. Nobody is buying or sailing any ships while money's so tight. Better cut out your advertising until times get good again."

Do you need help in planning your advertising? Would you welcome assistance in the preparation of your advertising copy? Do you need the services of a trained copy writer?

The Daily Register offers you its service department which will do any one or all of these things.
